DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 4-15 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim is dependent on another multiple dependant claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 4-15 have not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-3 provide for the use of polyoxyalkylene polycarboxylates, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Art Unit: 4171

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Widmer et al. (EP 1136507 A1).

6. Regarding claims 1-3: applicant claims a polyoxyalkylene polycarboxylate comprising at least 75% of structural units (1) and (2). The ratio of the structural units (2) to (1) and (2) being between 20-80% and a slump value T0 of between 12 and 20cm. Widmer et al. teach a dispersant for ready mix concrete (paragraph 0005) with the same structural units (paragraph 24, monomers 1 and 2) as applicants when the applicant's m is 0 and Widmer et al's R is hydrogen. Widmer et al. teach that monomer 1 is present between 10-90% and monomer 2 is present 10-80% (paragraph 0024). It is obvious to choose the portions of the ranges so that monomer 1 and monomer 2 are present at least 75%. It is also obvious to choose the portion of the ranges so that the ratio of the number of monomer units 2 to the total number of 1 and 2 is between 20 and 80%. For example, monomer 1 is 40% and monomer 2 is 40%. The total is 80%, which is greater than 75%. The ratio is $40\% / (40\% + 40\%) = 50\%$. This example also meets the limitations of claims 2 and 3 where the total is at least 80% and the ratio is between 40 and 60%.

7. The examiner agrees with the International Preliminary Report on Patentability that adjusting slump to a desired value is a routine measure for a person skilled in the art to take (by selecting the amount of dispersing agent and/or the w:c ratio). Since the weight ratio and monomers are the same the composition will inherently have fluidity retention up to 90 minutes for ready-to-use concrete.
